William H. Vodrey, Prominent County Lawyer, Dies At 81

Was Executive Of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

East Liverpool Man Was Civic Leader; Funeral Is Wednesday

Death Sunday night terminated the long and distinguished career of William H. Vodrey of East Liverpool — lawyer, newspaper executive and community benefactor.

Mr. Vodrey, who was 81, passed away quietly at 7 p.m. as he was talking with his lifelong friend, Dr. Joseph W. Cartwright, in his home on Park Boulevard, East Liverpool.

He had been in ill health with a weakened heart condition and had been confined to his home for several years.

Mr. Vodrey was the last of the three men who founded Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. His partners, Louis H. Brush of Salem and Roy D. Moore of Canton, preceded him in death, Mr. Brush June 24, 1948, and Mr. Moore on May 1, 1954.

Practiced Law For 57 Years

One of Ohio's best known men in his profession, Mr. Vodrey practiced law in East Liverpool for 57 years. He had been interested in newspaper publication since 1923 when, on behalf of Mr. Brush and Mr. Moore, he negotiated the purchase of the Marion Star from President Warren G. Harding. Four years later, with the purchase of the Canton Repository in 1927, Mr. Vodrey set up the corporate structure of Brush-Moore Newspapers.

Mr. Vodrey was the publishing company's secretary — treasurer and general counsel, continuing to serve in those capacities throughout the intervening years. Mr. Brush, the company's first president, later became chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Moore was vice president and general manager and later became president and publisher.

During his active years, Mr. Vodrey gave liberally of his time and energy to civic, religious and charitable enterprises, supervised the operation of his several farms, made notable contributions to the cause of reforestation in his native Columbiana County and sponsored the preservation of historic records and landmarks through his leadership in the East Liverpool Historical Society.

Mr. Vodrey's unflinching devotion to his newspaper interests took him to the Brush-Moore headquarters in Canton, with weekly regularity, more often if he deemed it necessary, for consultation with his partners in their function as members of the executive committee.

Received Forestry Award

In recent months he kept in touch by telephone and through personal visits from his associates. He was, however, permitted to make occasional automobile journeys to his beloved Fredericktown and the farms adjacent to East Liverpool, where much of his early life had been spent.

Here he had gone heavily into reforestation, the trees planted under his direction running perhaps to three million. He received the Ohio Forestry Association's award in 1945 as "Ohio's Greatest Tree Planter" because he had then set out his millionth tree.

Surviving members of Mr. Vodrey's immediate family are Mrs. Vodrey, two sons, William H. Vodrey Jr. of East Liverpool and Joseph Kelly Vodrey of Canton, and one daughter, Mrs. Gerald F. Boyd of Portsmouth.

There are eight grandchildren, Barbara, Jackson and Dorothy Vodrey of East Liverpool, Cynthia and Thompson K. Vodrey of Canton and William F., Mary Josephine and Theodore Boyd of Portsmouth.

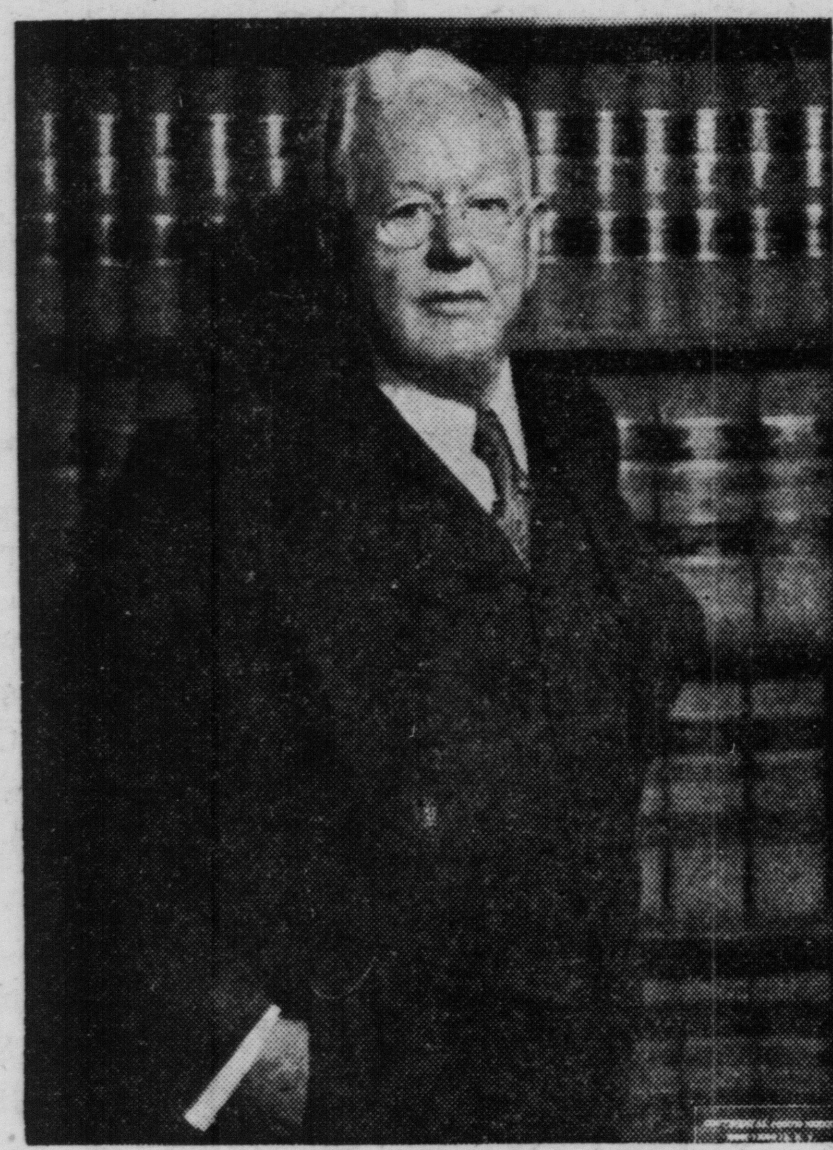

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church in East Liverpool in charge of the pastor, Rev. T. Victor Scott, and Rev. Wil-

Russia Warns Britain Not To Rearm Reich

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia today threatened to scrap the British-Soviet Mutual Assistance Treaty if the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany are ratified.

This warning was in a note handed to British Ambassador Sir William Hayter by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the Foreign Ministry.

The text of the note was not immediately available but it was understood to be similar to a note given France last Thursday threatening abrogation of the French-Soviet treaty.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry called a news conference for this evening and it was believed the text of the note would be made public then.

Bitter Cold Grips Eastern Part of U. S.

Bitter cold lay over the eastern part of the United States today, with freezing weather extending southward into the central gulf states.

And many midwestern states were mantled in snow — one to two inches over most of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Iowa; five to 10 inches in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

One of the coldest spots was right here in Salem where the mercury touched 2 below zero shortly before 6 a.m. today, according to recordings taken at the city sewage treatment plant on the Benton Road.

In most of the rest of the nation, temperatures were rising or reaching well above normal for this time were reported in the Northern Plains and northern Rocky Mountains. But Pellston, Mich., recorded 15 degrees below zero.

Special conditions provided two areas with accentuated vignettes on the general weather picture.

South Bend, Ind., off the south end of Lake Michigan, got 16 inches of snow in 24 hours.

A pool of cold air lying just west of the Continental Divide resulted in sharp temperature contrasts in Montana, Utah and Great Falls, in mild Pacific air flowing down the east slope, reported 45 and 42 early today, Helena and Butte reported 10 degrees and 3 degrees.

Foundations Hit As Promoters Of Socialism

Rep. Hays Blusters House Report Rapping Foundations' Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for several foundations have hit back with such terms as "biased" and "filmy" at a House committee report accusing the giant tax-free groups of promoting a socialism of "far greater menace" at home than communism.

The report was issued last night over the signatures of the three Republicans on a special five-member committee headed by Rep. Reece (R-Tenn.). One of them, Rep. Goodwin of Massachusetts, dissented from many of the conclusions, including the one that the foundations promote socialism.

Representatives Wayne L. Hays of Ohio and Plost of Idaho, the two Democratic members, filed a blistering dissent attacking the 416-page report as a "crackpot" view by persons suffering from "fear sickness." They put primary blame on the committee staff.

The report signed by the GOP members pictured the nation's big foundations as comprising an "interlock" which, it declared, wields tremendous left-wing power over the nation's thought and policies.

The 12-page opinion by the Democrats declared the investigation was dominated from the start by a "theme of prejudice" against the foundations "like the theme of doom in a tragic opera."

May Renew Probe

Hays recounted in a separate news conference that the committee's 16 stormy public hearings last May-June were abruptly called off by the GOP majority after only one profoundation witness had taken the stand. He said he believes it might be a good idea for the new Democratic-controlled Congress to hold a short set of hearings for the foundations to present their side of the case.

Reece, in a separate statement attached to the committee report, said further testimony was not taken because of Hays' "obstructive and harassing acts" at the hearings.

The GOP report said the foundations influence national policies through the power of the purse amplified through a host of "intermediate" organizations, such as information clearing houses and professional societies. It said professional foundation administrators, not the big-name trustees, wield the actual power.

However, it declared foundations generally are desirable and it said particular benefits have come from

Thieves Get $3,585 From Safe In Cranmer's Office

Mayor's Court Receipts Taken

Second Office In City Hall Entered

Intruders entered City Hall last night, broke open the safe in Mayor Dean Cranmer's office and escaped with $3,585.60 in city funds.

The money, in cash and checks, from fines, bonds and forfeits, December receipts, totaling about $200, were in the mayor's desk but were overlooked by the thieves.

City Solicitor W. J. Hunston said today he was not certain whether or not the city had insurance covering the loss.

Mayor Cranmer discovered the theft at about 11:30 p.m., when he was called to the City Hall to officiate over a state highway patrol case. He found the door to the combination file safe open, and the safe door itself missing.

Police Chief George Earley, who was summoned from his home, found that the office containing the desks of Water Superintendent Aubrey Hayes and City Clerk Robert Rheutan also had been disturbed, but a check by those two officials revealed that nothing was taken. Other offices apparently were not entered.

Earley said the door to the Mayor's office was locked, but that the door to City Service Director James Feiler's office was unlocked. The communicating door between the two offices was wide open, Earley said.

Feiler told Earley he had left the door to his office locked.

Rheutan told police that the door to his office also had been locked when he quit work Saturday. Drawers of his and Hayes' desks had been pulled open.

No identifiable fingerprints were found, Earley said.

Earley said three sets of keys which would open the doors of the upstairs officer and the safe in the mayor's office were in existence. He said they belonged to the mayor, his wife, who acts as his secretary, and Council President James Aldom.

Mayor Cranmer reported he had been checking the streets Sunday night to determine where ashes and salt would be needed because of the snow. He said he returned to his office for his boots at 8:30

Jury Still Deadlocked, May Be Released Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — For the fourth consecutive day, the jurors in the Sheppard murder trial went back into conference this morning, possibly for the last time.

They show no signs of being near a verdict.

If they remain deadlocked today,

Judge Edward Blythin can ask the foreman how the jurors stand. And if he is told there is no hope of agreement, he can discharge them. This would necessitate another long and expensive trial for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who is accused of murdering his wife.

Courtroom veterans were unable to remember any jury going so many hours without a verdict, or being held so long by a judge.

Judge Blythin told newsmen he does not consider it unusual that the jury is taking so much time. He added:

"If they were convinced they could not agree, they would speak up, but I have not had a single question or communication from them."

The jurors took the case at 10:15 a.m. last Friday. When they were excused last night — there was no after-dinner session — they had been together nearly 56 hours, and actually deliberating in the jury room just over 24 hours.

Sheppard himself looks pale, drawn and unutterably weary.

The state alleges that he killed his wife last July 4. His relations with other women, the prosecution argued, prompted the crime. Thus, the charge is first degree murder. Conviction of the charge would carry a mandatory death sentence unless the jury recommended mercy.

Sheppard steadfastly denies any guilt. He says a prowler broke into his home while he was asleep and beat Marilyn Sheppard to death. She was pregnant at the time.

Under Ohio law, a prisoner must be brought from his cell to the courtroom every time the jury recesses for meals or for the night. Thus, Sheppard has confronted them eight times since they began

Calla Farmer Also Victim In Rt. 62 Collision

Frank Charlton, Mrs. Helen Redman, Lyle Bogner Are Killed

Traffic accidents took a heavy toll in the area over the weekend, killing three persons and injuring eleven others in five mishaps investigated by state highway patrolmen.

Two Salem residents, 77-year-old Mrs. Helen Redman of RD 2, Salem and her 65-year-old brother, Frank Charlton of Benton Road, and a Calla fruit grower, Lyle Wilbur Bogner, 51, died as a result of a two-car collision on Route 62 near Canton. Bogner was Mrs. Redman's son. Four other persons were injured.

Patrolmen said that a car driven by Charlton, traveling southwest, was hit head-on when an auto operated by Richard Cameron, 46, of Alliance, moving northeast, failed to negotiate a curve five miles northeast of Canton at 4:40 p.m. Sunday.

Both Charlton and Bogner, a passenger in the Charlton car, were dead upon arrival at Aultman Hospital in Canton. Mrs. Redman died at 6:25 a.m. today in Canton Mercy Hospital of internal injuries and fractures of both legs.

Mrs. Charlton Critically Hurt

Mrs. Ota Charlton, 62-year-old wife of Frank, is listed in critical condition in Mercy Hospital with compound fractures of the wrist, fractures of the nose and left leg, a possible back injury and shock.

Two young boys riding in the Cameron auto were hospitalized at Mercy Hospital along with the driver. Cameron is reported in serious condition with a possible skull fracture and a compound fracture of the right knee while Rudolph Snyne, 3½, of Youngstown is in serious condition with internal injuries. Another boy, Lovelace Smith, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Alliance is in fair condition with a fractured right leg.

Mercy Hospital authorities said that the Snyne boy was staying with an aunt, Mrs. Ruth Longmire, in Alliance, and accompanied her, Cameron and the Smith youth, a neighbor of Mrs. Longmire, to the Molly Stark Hospital in Canton where Mrs. Longmire's husband is confined as a patient.

Finds Boys Missing

While the auto visited her husband, Cameron and the two children went for a ride without informing Mrs. Longmire. When she returned to the site where the car had been parked, she frantically searched for an hour and a half and then contacted patrolmen who told her that two youths, involved in an accident, had been taken to Mercy Hospital. She identified them there.

The Charlton party was returning from Canton following a visit to Mercy Hospital where a brother of Frank and Mrs. Redman, Owen of Canton, is a patient.

Bogner was thrown from the car while Charlton's body was found behind the steering wheel of the auto, patrolmen said.

A Moundsville, W. Va. family of five sustained minor injuries when the car in which they were riding hit a bridge on Route 45, five miles south of Lisbon at 12:25 p.m. Saturday.

Patrolmen said the driver, Marion Horne, 33, who suffered a fractured nose, attempted to pass a truck and hit the bridge. His wife, Olive, 28, and children, Paul 8;

Hammar skjold, Red Envoy Talk

U. N. Chief To Leave For Peiping Shortly

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced last night after a meeting with Communist China's ambassador to Sweden that he still plans to leave for Peiping sometime after Dec. 26, but the exact date has not been set.

As Hammarskjöld conferred at a luncheon with the envoy, Gen. Keng Piao, Peiping radio broadcast further legal arguments against the release of the 11 U.S. fliers China is holding as spies. The radio quoted a brief by a Chinese judge that the Korean armistice applied only to the North Koreans and the Chinese "volunteers" in Korea, not to the Chinese peasants and police the broadcast said had captured the airmen.

An official announcement from Hammarskjöld said his 2½-hour discussion with Keng was on practical matters concerning his mission to China. The secretary general will seek the release of the American airmen and all other U.N. personnel still held by the Chinese since the Korean War.

U.N. Press Chief Wider Foote said all details of Hammarskjöld's China trip would be announced as soon as they have been settled.

He said no further meetings were planned with the Chinese before the secretary general's return to New York tomorrow.

The Peiping broadcast yesterday quoted Mei Ju-ao, a Chinese justice at the Japanese war crimes trials after World War I, as saying the case of the American fliers had nothing to do with the Korean armistice because the truce applied to the Communist side only to prisoners and Chinese "volunteers." This fitted in with China's contention that she officially was not involved in the Korean War.

The radio declared the fliers "were captured by Chinese peasants within Chinese territory west of Antung in Liaoning province (Manchuria)." The United States maintains they were downed in North Korea and taken to China after their capture.

Alabama Youth Admits Slaying

Crushed Skull Of Arkansas Woman

BRINKLEY, Ark. (AP)—A 19-year-old Alabama youth who has admitted he swung the club which crushed the skull of pretty Mrs. Milton Fuller in an undisclosed Arkansas jail today, waiting to be charged with first-degree murder.

Prosecutor J. B. Reed told newsmen yesterday he would file the information against Billy Ray Willingham here today.

The youth, who left a 16-year-old wife in Alabama, said hunger drove him into the unpretentious Fuller home, and that a weird sex urge spurred him into killing the young mother.

Mrs. Fuller was found dying early Dec. 12 in her blood-spattered bedroom. She had been hit once with a four-foot stick of firewood. The blow crushed her skull. She died nearly five hours later at a hospital without regaining consciousness.

Prosecutor Reed told newsmen that Willingham Friday admitted striking Mrs. Fuller. However, he said he and officers first suspected the man might be mentally unbalanced, rather than guilty. Willingham underwent a 12-hour psychiatric examination in Little Rock which convinced Reed he was sane. When the youth told officers that he took two of five biscuits from the Fuller kitchen — and a hurried check revealed only three biscuits remaining — Reed said he accepted Willingham's story as true.

"Why did you kill Mrs. Fuller?" Willingham was asked by newsmen.

"I don't know why. I just hit her," he replied. "She was asleep when I hit her. I'm sorry."

He flatly denied that he attempted to rape Mrs. Fuller, mother of two little girls but said, "I did a few things."

"Different things, just different things,"

Willingham was picked up for questioning at Forrest City while loitering on the streets, and brought to Brinkley, where he said he was the killer.

Carrier Pigeons Bring News To New Station

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Radio station WWBG goes on the air today—with news delivered by carrier pigeon.

A dispute with the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. left Howard R. Ward, head of the newly constructed station, temporarily without lines to bring in Associated Press service. Ward's FCC construction permit says he has to be on the air by tomorrow.

So he arranged to have his AP teletype machines installed in a department store at Toledo, some 20 air miles distant, and got the loan of about 30 pigeons from the American Homing and Racing Pigeon Union.

Communion Planned At Two Churches

Rev. Donald McGarragh, pastor of the North Benton and Middle Sandy Presbyterian Churches, has scheduled communion services at both churches for this week.

The candlelight communion service Thursday, Dec. 23, at 8 p.m., in the Middle Sandy Church at Homeworth will be in conjunction with the congregation of Mt. Carmel Evangelical and United Brethren Church. The pastor, Rev. Raymond Hearn will assist Rev. McGarragh.

On the committee for the service will be Mrs. Erma Jackson, Mrs. Virginia Crist and Mrs. Lola Emmons. Glenda Zellers will conduct the call to worship and solos will be sung by Robert Hahn, Harold Stoffer and Mrs. Dorothy Pickins. The youth of the church will go caroling after the service.

Atlee Freshley directs the choir which will sing at the pre-Christmas service.

North Benton
Rev. McGarragh will present the message on "The Night Before Christmas" at the Christmas eve communion service which will be conducted by candlelight Dec. 24 at 11 p.m. in the North Benton Church. Helen Watkins, the choir director, will present special music. The young people of the church will go caroling at 7 Christmas eve.

the Tippecanoe Country Club, Youngstown. His topic was "Machine Accounting and Electronics."

The meeting was designated as "Perfect Attenders Night." Various members honored for their perfect attendance came from Warren, New Castle, Ellwood City, Sharon, Salem, Niles, Canfield, Girard and Youngstown.

Social Security Office Adopts Holiday Hours

The local representative of the Youngstown Social Security Office will not visit the Salem Post Office Dec. 24 or Dec. 31.

On Tuesday, Dec. 21, and Tuesday Dec. 28, he will be available as usual on the second floor of the Salem post office from 9:30 to 12:30.

In January, the usual schedule, Tuesday and Friday of each week from 9:30 to 12:30 will be resumed.

New White House Wrinkle

The American presidency changes from term to term and year to year according to the personality of presidents and the circumstances of the times.

Although this is obvious — and has been illustrated by every presidential administration
since the first one — it has been clouded over by the myth that a president should do only what his critics want him to do. This always is the thing that would be most advantageous to them.

Yet, Abraham Lincoln intensified his executive authority to keep the republic from being destroyed by rebellion. Theodore Roosevelt went far afield to deal with the money power. Franklin Roosevelt junked the two-term tradition.

It is an exciting possibility that Dwight Eisenhower may introduce a new wrinkle into the presidency — bipartisanship at the executive level.

His personality and the circumstances of the times have suggested the possibility that Eisenhower may command the confidence of a congressional coalition.

His recent order to his cabinet to consult the leadership of both major parties on recommendations for legislative action has no precedent.
The President has no choice. He lacks a legislative majority of Republicans, more so since November than before.

He must do the best he can with realities
that confront him.

If his means putting the presidency above
his normal leadership of the Republican party,
now in the minority, he may be the first chief executive in modern times to try to command
a friendly coalition, instead of trying to make political capital out of the opposition of a hostile coalition.

Paying As We Go

The quickest way to see what's coming in highway-building is to look backward. Highway-building for automobiles is only a third of a century old.

The first auto roads, built after World War I,
were obsolete before they were ready for use;
the automobile was picking up speed until World War II added necessity to desirability,
many localities never had seen a road designed for high-speed automobile traffic.

Even the newest of the new highways today
will not be the last word in design — no more so than the first two-car-width brick roads of the 20s proved to be the last word.

Realization of progress to come is the background for a forthcoming report on a national highway program by a White House commission headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay. The purpose of the report is to get action started on President Eisenhower's proposal to the Government Conference for a 50-billion-dollar road modernization program — the biggest domestic project introduced by the Eisenhower administration.

Another part of the background for the report, which is expected to be issued soon, is the financing plan already made popular by state pall roads. It is expected the 50-billion-dollar program would be financed by bonds sold to private investors and paid for by revenues from gasoline and oil taxes. The debt, although underwritten by the federal and state governments, thus would be repaid by highway users. The users, in turn, would recover their payment in large part by savings in operating costs from more efficient highways.

On The Other Foot

As someone said a long time ago — soon after the first ox had been gored in a tariff debate in Congress — "the tariff is a local issue."

Congressmen must be for high tariffs when local interests demand protection.

They must be for low tariffs when local interests demand favorable conditions for the export of surplus commodities.

It would be simple if congressmen had one or the other. But most congressmen in these days of decentralized manufacturing and multi-crop farming have both.

Thus, before any congressman can assume safely he should be in favor of high protection
he must learn what producers in his district may be interested in the export trade. These producers are likely to favor the sale of foreign goods here because that is the only way foreign buyers can obtain dollar credits to purchase U.S. goods.

A survey by the Committee for a National Trade Policy shows that exports by Ohio producers now account for about the same total of wage-salary income as farming — roughly,
a billion dollars a year. Anything that interferes unnecessarily with this course of income is as harmful to the public welfare as anything that interferes unnecessarily with producers
who sell all their output in the domestic market.

Foreign Trade

By DAVID BARNETT

Battle Shaping Up Over U.S. Policy

Protectionists and free-trade forces are lining up strength for what could be the biggest congressional battle of the early-1955 season.

President Eisenhower told legislative leaders this week he intended sending to Congress a package of legislative requests containing a more liberal foreign-trade policy.

The main elements in the policy are a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, ratification of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT)
and customs simplification.

To guide the administration's fight the chief executive will have
as a consultant, Clarence Randall,
the steel executive who headed a special commission set up by the President to study trade barriers.
The commission reported last January.

The fight cuts across party lines.
House speaker — designate Sam
Rayburn has put foreign-trade policy at the top of his list of congressional action. The Democratic chairmen of the committees that will handle the legislation are southerners, traditional advocates of lower tariffs.

Some so-called Eisenhower Republicans will go along with the program. But the GOP right wing is getting set for a stiff fight. In the congressional record for one day along — Dec. 14 — Sen. Malone inserted 48 columns of arguments, statements and speeches against a more liberalized trade policy.

THE PROTECTIONISTS recently added to their list of potent pressure groups a new, powerful ally, the Radio-Electronic-Television Manufacturers' Association.
The group plans to fight for an increase in the import duty from the present 12.5 per cent to 35 per cent on TV parts and accessories and radios.

Some indication of the extent of the trade controversy was given at hearings being held by the Tariff Commission and by the Interdepartmental Committee for Reciprocity
information on a proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Japan.

Some 150 persons asked to present oral arguments at the hearings, scheduled to end Dec. 23, and hundreds more filed briefs. The opponents represented domestic interests ranging from tuna fish to wiping rags.

All these interests consider that they will be unfairly treated if goods made by lower-cost Japanese workers are permitted to flood the American market.

To the administration, the binding factors are quite different. Assistant Secretary of State Robertson put it this way: Is it easier for us to send our youths to war—
or to expose our domestic producers to an increased competition

that all but a small minority could take in their stride and from which the consuming public would benefit?

IF WE FORCE Japan into economic starvation or into selling to the Communists, we may lose Japan to the free world and have to fight to rein it on the battlefield.

Chances are good that the three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act will be approved by Congress, although the protectionists may succeed in some bank attacks.

The most important "out" for industries which think they are "hurting" from foreign competition is the "escape clause" now in the act. This permits the president to grant tariff relief to specific industries. It was used by President Eisenhower to increase the tariffs on Swiss watches, for instance. The protectionists are expected to attempt to broaden this avenue of escape.

Some groups, such as the oil and coal interests, are expected to put pressure on Congress to amend the act to slap import quotas on oil imports.

Import quotas, which restrict the total amount of a commodity that may be brought into a country, have operated against American exporters in many foreign countries, even those which have reduced their tariffs.

At the International Conference of GATT in Geneva, attempts are being made by Germany, Holland, Britain and Belgium, particularly,
to put import quotas under international control and thereby eliminate at least some of them.

BATT PROVIDES international machinery for negotiating multilateral tariff agreements among its 33 members similar to the bilateral agreements worked out by the United States and other countries
under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. It also establishes a set of fair trading rules for international exchanges.

The U.S. has participated in GATT by an executive agreement which Congress has never ratified.
The issue is not clearly one of trade policy; it involves also a delegation of congressional power over trade and tariffs to the president and to international bodies.
The fight for ratification might get so bogged down in the constitutional issue that no action will be taken this session at all.

Customs simplification involves basically two things: Changes in physical procedures so as to permit imported goods to go through customs more quickly, and overhauling the tariff classification system. It is estimated that there are now some 8,000 different classifications under which imports are rated for tariff purposes. Many of these are overlapping.

Men, Not Puppets

By TRUMAN TWILL

A fellow named Harrison Smith
has stuck a pin into a practice
that has been giving fits to a lot of conscientious Americans—a nd
we want him to keep jabbing.

This Smith is president of Saturday Review and knows his way around contemporary literature.
That was why he was asked to be on a panel to talk about the works of the late Sinclair Lewis. The panel was being set up by the Library of Congress.

But when he was given a script
prepared by the Library of Congress, accompanied by a suggestion that he could add or subtract from what it had been proposed he should say, he flipped his wig.

He wanted no part of predigested opinions about Sinclair Lewis or anything else he was going to discuss, he pointed out indignantly
— and withdrew from the panel.

"I decline to deliver words written by someone else on any subject, much less one I know so well as I do this one," he declared.
"Editing someone else's script is not the answer."

It is not in literature but in public affairs that the practice of putting words into the mouths of integrity in this country. Abuse of the people's confidence in their public officials first became scandalous in Washington during the Roosevelt administration.

Things finally got so bad in the case of White House speeches that no one could be sure what they represented—the views of a couple of fellows from New York City way,
a couple of Harvard sprouts, or the views of a president of the United States who was too busy to reach his own conclusions.

The practice kept growing, until
on one dismal occasion a cabinet
official pulled the wrong speech out of his pocket and was well into it before he discovered he was reading what he was supposed to say the next night in another city.

"Ghost-writing" became a thriving occupation. Notables, negotiation and business gushed all over the country while listeners speculated about where they had found their ideas and at how much a word.

People who didn't have two ideas to rub together learned they could break into print, land a spot on radio or television, or hold a captive audience spellbound in a banquet hall with speeches they sometimes couldn't even read right, let alone compose out of their own wits.

It came to be taken for granted that if a speaker agreed in general with what someone else had written, he could fob it off as his own.

Plagiarism became part of the American way of life.

But not with unanimous consent.
That's why Harrison Smith's wig-flipping is important. There is nothing that needs to be guarded
more jealously in a society of free men than the integrity of opinion.

Those who stand before the public as authorities must be authoritative. When they aren't, the public is asked to put its confidence in stuffed shirts.

Keep jabbing, Smitty. Let's un-stuff all the shirts so we can tell
the men from the puppets.

If men were more interested in what other men are wearing, more men would go to church.

SIDE GLANCES

Where! Who Said There Was No Santa Claus?

The Price Of Peace

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The issue of war or peace is always a dread and divisive one.
It is rare, in modern times, that a statesman has willingly assumed

the responsibility of starting a war; therefore all wars are called defensive and the people of each country involved in a war are led to believe that they have been attacked by a merciless enemy.

On the other hand, Hitler and Stalin both devised techniques of statecraft which made it possible for them to give the impression of desiring peace while conducting a war.

The master of this parody was Stalin who evolved the processes of penetration and infiltration as weapons of war in peace-time—
weapons as effective as any constructed in an arms factory. American policy has often been confused
by a failure to identify these techniques with the result that we have suffered some major defeats
as in China, Korea and Indochina.

BE IT NOTED that our principal defeats have been in Asia, not in Europe. The reason is that while our diplomacy has been concentrated upon Asia since 1945, Furthermore, while our statesmen are familiar with European affairs and characteristics and have been misled by a group of experts who have tended to support either Russia or Communism.

Having said this, we might make a comparison. Great Britain, for instance, is not in a geographic position to court war. It is now the most vulnerable area in Europe. It can be bombed out of existence. It can be destroyed by both the offensive and defensive forces.

The British therefore must favor
every effort toward peace, short of conquest by peaceful means, because war can only mean total destruction.

This has nothing to do with the character, the courage, the history
or the quality of the British people.

ple. It is a matter of geography, of the concentration of population and industry.

Red China faces different problems: four million square miles in territory adjacent to Soviet Russia for about 4,000 miles, backed by a vast hinterland, capable of a low standard of living among a people accustomed to inadequate food supplies, without a notable concentration of industry anywhere in the country, and accessible to supplies from Soviet Russia without crossing an ocean.

THEREFORE white Great Britain cannot afford a war, Red China can risk greatly for the development and expansion of empire. Actually, Red China benefits by every move made against the "white" countries because all Asiatic nations, even the friendly ones, have a long history of umbrage from and antagonism to those European countries that in the past regarded all pigmented peoples as inferiors. It is as much a case of getting even, as it is Marxism or imperialism.

Such situations in the past have made for war. Sooner or later, anger, fouled dignity, outraged national honor develop into war. It would appear that it is now the policy of Soviet China to twist the United States, to abuse his country, to create unnecessary sensations, all designed to establish the fact that we are afraid to fight.

It may be small-boy tactics, but it is nonetheless outrageous and unbearable.

It will not be solved by scattering billions of dollars like rain
over the paddy fields of Southeastern Asia. It will not be solved by peaceful proclamations which can only encourage Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai to do more of the same. It can only be handled by some show of force because the Chinese have never, in their long history, responded to anything but force.

CHINA HAS always been involved in wars, internal and external.
Its reputation for peace comes from the writings of its philosophers rather than the records of its history. But how does one employ force without risking a universal war? And is force to be used today or five years later?

These are questions of national policy upon which the future of our country depends, and they can only be answered by the president of the United States, however he may be, because upon him alone falls
this heavy responsibility.

If he makes too many mistakes
in judgment, it will be very unfortunate because no historic mistake, of international magnitude, can be corrected except by war or revolution. If he is wise, our strength will save us.

Foundations Controversy

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The House committee on Tax Exempt Foundations now presents its long-awaited report. It has the support of the three Republican members, Carroll Reece, Jesse Walcott, and Angier Goodwin.

The latter intends to submit a supplemental statement. There will be no doubt a vehement minority report by Wayne Hays, with which Gracie Plost is almost sure to agree.

The majority report is likely to be the most controversial item raised by the 83rd Congress, with the exception of the McCarty case and the Bricker amendment. For it is fairly critical of some aspects of the activities of tax-exempt foundations, and because of that fact has aroused against it the immense power which they control. To evaluate this discussion requires a pretty level head and a steady set of nerves. But it is to be hoped that such means can be summoned for the purpose.

FOR FOUNDATIONS are an incalculable power in our American life. Their assets are now in the billions, and their income in the hundreds of millions. They are literally built into the entire educational, scientific, and cultural structure. And as can be easily shown, not only from what the Reece committee reports but from the reports of the foundations themselves and their affiliated agencies, there is a vast and potentially dangerous concentration of power.

The good that they have done is very great. The Rockefeller Foundation revolutionized medical education and, to a degree, all medical science.

Other foundations have contributed to the enrichment and expansion of education for all sorts and conditions of people. Many other sides of our life have been favorably influenced.

THESE ARE facts which are recognized on all sides, and the Reece report does not attempt to deny them. The counsel of the committee said at the outset:

"Starting with the premise that foundations are basically desirable, excessive regulation, which would virtually deprive them of all freedom, might well destroy their character, their usefulness and their desirability."

If acute or chronic ailments should appear, the remedies may not, in every case, be through legislation. A disclosure of the ailments may, to some extent, induce reform within the ailing foundation itself. And the very statement of the facts may induce the public to take an interest of a nature to bring about reform
through the force of public opinion.

It is a pity that the expectation of the counsel for a calm review of the merits and demerits proved to be impossible. My own impression is, after following the whole history of the committee with close, intense interest, that the chairman made some unfortunate remarks when asking the House to authorize the study.

SOME WITNESSES opposed to the foundations made extreme and unnecessary charges. These cannot excuse minority member Hays for his violent conduct during the hearings — conduct so obstructive that hearings had to be abandoned.

Stung by what seemed to them
unfair charges, some of the foundations defended themselves with a fervor which conveyed the impression that they and their works were above criticism.

Thus the whole matter so far as the hearings were concerned
became a confused din of angry language.

The majority report, prepared,
it can be assumed, by counsel,
merits reading with care by all who are interested in saving what needs saving and in eliminating what needs eliminating in the work of foundations.

It gives foundations credit where credit is due, but points to dangers and mistakes which the public is entitled to understand.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Real News Newsreel

We had a roving scout on the road on Drive Safety Day. He got run over a couple of times, but managed to get back with the following report. (1) It threw thousands off rhythm to such an extent nobody could be sure whether autos were hitting pedestrians or pedestrians
were hitting autos; (2) Drivers who ripped off
fenders in passing on the wrong side cut down their profitability about 2 per cent; (3) In one town a driver who rammed a hole in the trunk compartment of the car ahead was slightly less abusive than drivers usually are in blaming
the car ahead; (4) Swearing at old people caught in mid-traffic showed a drop of 1 per cent except in New York and Chicago.

We observed one driver behaving as if he had never heard of the day and he said, "I thought it was one of those 'People Are Fonyl' programs. Did I win anything?" We don't intend to be anywhere near a highway for weeks. Drivers who behaved like human beings for a few hours are going to be so sore they will be out trying to get even all through 1955.

One of the country's most unusual contests,
the "Kitchen Olympics" or "Pastry World Series" took place last week in the Waldorf-Astoria December's Rosebowl of the Household Cooks. . . . Almost $100,000 in prizes was awarded with one wife and mother getting 25
grand for a chiffon pie, another woman winning $7,500 for butterscotch cake bars and another drawing down $2,500 for a coffee cake.

There were many other awards in what was certainly one of New York's strangest and most amazing "shows."

The Waldorf-Astoria is about the last place
you would expect to find any woman doing her own cooking, yet there were 100 whipping up favorite dishes in the annual Bakeoff produced by Pillsbury. Somehow the mood hung over the hotel. . . . Even Conrad Hilton had four on his sleeves, Paul Stewart, the public relations man, showed up with an egg beater
and the desk clerk gave us a cake knife instead of a key to our room.

Mrs. Bernard A. Koteen, who copped the $25,000 for an "Open Sesame" pie is a former grand opera singer and archeologist. . . . Sort of reverses the routine. When some women
cook a pie the husband discovers the rocks.

It was quite an experience, stepping into an elevator at the Waldorf and not being able to tell whether the lady next to you was a duchess or a swell pastry cook.

Doing our own cooking at this hotel has always been our secret ambition and we still have a yen to get a suite in the towers and be caught cooking a hotdog.

You wouldn't think any comedian or writer could turn out a Christmas program without a touch of reverence or beauty, yet this feat is being accomplished by some TV boys.
... We saw one in which even leers, off-color gags and even a suggestive joke about good will toward men were a part of the Santa routine!
Haven't the sponsors any children or any deep respect for the Christmas spirit?

Ralph Kiner, famous homerun king, demanded a 40 per cent cut in his pay for 1955.
(Maybe he just wants to draw in the enemy outfield.) Or can it be that he thinks that in the American League it will seem like more money? Perhaps all he wants is enough to keep the wolf from the batting average.

Lina Dodo is asking for tickets to Victor
Borge in "The Bad SWEDE."

George Jessel is being talked of as head of a baseball league. . . . Just goes to show you can never tell what may happen to an after-dinner speaker who doesn't reform.

The Kraft Television Theater program, it is reported, has been taken over as Pond's Television Theater. We hope the girls don't get so mixed up they use the wrong mixture on their faces.

Peggy King, a girl just out of her teens who is going great guns via TV and recordings, with Hollywood making offers, was doing commercials less than a year ago and got her first break doing a song on the Linklater program.

George Gobel signed her without an audition.

After some years the thrillers are coming back to Broadway, with "The Bad Seed" and
"Witness for the Prosecution" setting the pace.

Civic Organizations Bring Santa Claus to Needy Youths

Many area youths who might not have seen Jolly St. Nick this year have been given the opportunity by civic organizations who have been treating needy children throughout the area.

The Salem Rotary Club members and families will gather to entertain crippled children at the annual Christmas party Tuesday night when the children will be presented with dinner, treats, a Santa Claus, and a program of entertainment.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the local American Red Cross office will combine tonight to bring to several underprivileged children gifts, the change to see Santa, and entertainment. Each organization has distributed clothes and toys to more than 70 district children.

Treats and toys for over 200 children are awaiting the Salvation Army Toy Shop to be held Wednesday and Thursday. Mothers may come to the citadel anytime during these two days to pick up any gifts which they may need. The Salvation Army expects more than 20 children at the Christmas party Wednesday. Last week a teenage carol sing and Christmas party was featured there.

County Welfare workers have discarded holding parties in order to cover the needs of more area children. Today the workers are distributing toys and clothing donated by service groups and individuals.

Fairmount Children's Home children have been in a pre-Christmas whirl.

The children will be taken to the Alliance Elks Club tonight for a banquet and gifts, and Dr. F. O. Goodenough, chairman of Massillon's Cub Scout Pack, will come to the home later to distribute presents.

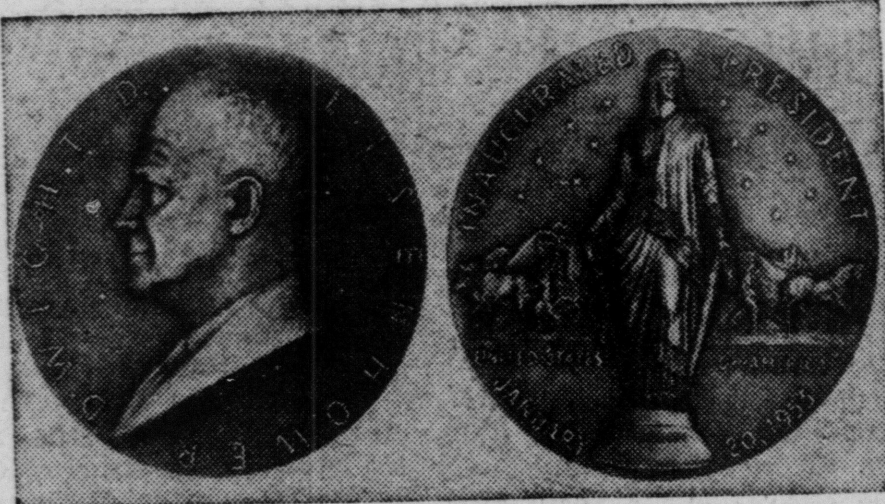

A day which includes a movie, luncheon and dinner, a swimming party, games, and a dance will be celebrated by the children Tuesday at the Canton Industrial Management Club. Each child will be given a treat.

Christopher Columbians in Alliance will repeat the yearly custom of holding a Christmas dinner and Santa Claus presentation at their club for the Fairmount children.

Scouts will take over the home on Thursday when they hold a party and Christmas gift exchange.

Employees of the Hoover Co. of North Canton will entertain several of the children in Canton Friday. A program also will be presented by the children for the employees later in the day.

Bringing gifts on Saturday morning will be the Hartsville Mennonite Church. Other area churches

Mrs. Dean Barber entertained associates of the "500" Club with a Christmas party and exchange of gifts.

First prize was awarded Mrs. Don Murphy; second, Mrs. Harold Wulf; and third, Mrs. Clarence Woolley.

Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. Alva Tetlow received special prizes. A two course lunch was served by the hostess.

Christmas carols will be sung and gifts will be exchanged by Girl Scout Troop 1 Thursday, Dec. 23.

The girls will meet at Stanley's store at 6:30 p.m. to go caroling. The meeting was opened by repeating promises and laws. It was reported that dolls which the girls repaired are finished and will be given to children in hospitals.

Joyce Edgerton is in charge of a gift box to be given to Ardis Srael and Janice Knight has charge of the gift for Susan Gidley. Both girls have been in hospitals. The meeting closed with "Taps."

Christmas gifts were exchanged and food brought to fill a Christmas basket when the Progressive Farm Women's Club was entertained by Mrs. J. S. Hollinger Thursday afternoon.

Making corsages occupied the time, and lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Herbert Lora will receive the group Thursday, Jan. 20.

An exchange of holiday gifts was a highlight when the Damascus W. C. T. U. was entertained by Mrs. Marguerite Borton Thursday afternoon. A Christmas Story was told by Mrs. Don Oswalt.

Writing to congress in protest of advertising of liquor over television and radio was discussed. Yearly dues are being received. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Frontz, Mrs. C. E. Hobson, Mrs. W. A. Talbott, Miss JoAnne Phillips and Mrs. Don Phillips attended a party at Warren Thursday evening for employees of the Ohio Central Telephone Co.

Second Lieutenant and Mrs. Franklin Patten and Susan Kay are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Patten. They have been in El Paso, Tex. where Lt. Patten has been in the service, and is now discharged.

Mrs. Dean Barber has received word that her father, Lester Burton, who has been a patient in the Grand Canyon Hospital in Arizona following a heart attack, has been discharged.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton are at 3611 Cypress Drive, Albuquerque, N. M.

Town Council Bans Bikinis On Streets

NANTUCKET, Mass. — Selectmen say they don't like the idea of Bikini bathing suits on Nantucket streets—in the summer.

Even as the blustery winter winds blew, the selectmen yesterday approved a proposed town by-law which says everyone over 12 must be covered "to a point midway the hip and knees" if they wander from the beaches.

Selectmen said they approved the proposal at this time of the year since it must be acted on at the Feb. 15 town meeting.

INVENTORS FAIL 3000 TIMES

TOKYO — Three amateur inventors turned on the power on Japan's first jet helicopter yesterday, but the machine refused again to leave the ground. The inventors, who have made 3,000 attempts to fly the machine, say they haven't given up.

Auto 'War' Hikes Demand For Steel

CLEVELAND — American steel demand owes a lot to an automobile production race, the possibility of a strike in that industry next spring and new business from European consumers, Steel magazine reported today.

This nation's steel production rate held at 81.5 per cent of rated capacity last week, and Steel magazine's price composite on finished steel stayed at $17.95 per net ton.

The magazine cited a production and sales race between two makers of low priced cars as probably the greatest incentive for steel demand. Another reason for greater raw material purchasing in the auto industry is the threat of a strike at the end of May.

Then from Europe has come a mass of orders from consumers who heretofore have used European steel. Price advances in European steel are largely responsible for this.

Much of the rise in demand is concentrated in cold-rolled sheets. Some producers are sold out for the first quarter of 1955. Producers of other forms of steel such as bar and wire also are helped by the automotive industry's demands.

Thrifty Man Finds Way To Save Money Costly

BALTIMORE — Charles Luckhart is a thrifty man, so he walked 16 blocks to a grocery store yesterday to get some cut-rate goods. Walking the 16 blocks back home to save the bus fare, the 43-year-old man was set upon by three youths. He told police he was robbed of the bag of groceries and a wallet containing $40.

Hitchhiker Finds $700

DALLAS — Grady Wilson, 41, found $700 in rolled-up bills by a boulevard and brought it to police headquarters to turn it in. He flagged a ride to the station with a patrolman. Then Wilson, farm hand and laborer from Phoenix, Ariz., continued his hitchhiking to Florida.

Safety Cab Plan Offers Celebration Protection

ALTANTA — A special safety cab plan for Atlantans who celebrate well but not wisely will go into effect Thursday and continue through the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The plan works very simply. If you acquire a "glow" at a party, phone for a safety cab. The cab will arrive with two drivers, one to take you home and the other to drive your car.

Sponsors are the Greater Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council and the Yellow Cab Co.

Bows And Arrows Fail To Kill Timber Wolves

PLANO, Tex. — Well, they're after those sheep-killing wolves with bows and arrows now—and still no luck.

Timber wolves have been preying on sheep around here. A week ago yesterday 275 hunters with guns staged a mass hunt and nary a wolf.

This past weekend six members of the Dallas Field and Archers Assn. tried it. They used a "hurt rabbit" call that goes "wayeh, wayeh" to lure the prey but returned yesterday empty-handed.

Said I. L. Abernathy: "The high wind was probably the reason. You have to blow the call downwind, but in a high wind like last night the wolves picked up our scent. We saw a lot of eyes, but they never got close enough for us to bother shooting."

Kathleen Kampfer Married To Soldier at St. Paul Church

Miss Kathleen Kampfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kampfer of Benton Road, and Pvt. James Harrigan, son of Mrs. Doris Harrigan of 308 1/2 Ohio Ave., exchanged marriage vows Saturday morning at St. Paul Church.

Rev. Fr. J. R. Gaffney officiated at the ceremony. Miss Sarah Colman, church organist played the nuptial music. Christmas appointments were used in the church decorations.

In complement to her light blue wool jersey dress and navy accessories, the bride wore gardenias.

The maid of honor, Miss Anita

Gallo, wore pink faille and white gardenias. Joe Alessi served as best man.

Dressed in deep blue with black accessories, the bride's mother wore a corsage of yellow roses as did the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in an orchid ensemble.

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception for friends and relatives of the couple Sunday afternoon in their home.

Mr. Harrigan, who attended Salem High School, was employed by Mullins. He is now stationed with the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Post-nuptial parties honoring the bride included the Thursday night affair at the home of Miss Betty Martig on the Benton Rd.

Gifts were placed under a rainbow-colored umbrella in keeping with the shower motif.

Games led by Mrs. Leroy Munsell were enjoyed and a lunch prepared by the hostess and Mrs. Oleta Mertig.

Another party was held in Miss Kampfer's honor Thursday when employees of the mailing department at Mullins presented her with a shower of miscellaneous gifts at a luncheon.

Haviland Choir Feted At Alfred Fitch Home

Attorney and Mrs. Alfred Fitch entertained 30 members of the Haviland Choir of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in their newly-purchased home on Jennings Ave. The colorful theme of Christmas predominated in the decorations.

Assisting Mrs. Fitch in the party preparations were Mrs. Robert Talbot, Mrs. Richard Strain, Mrs. Marie Fawcett, Mrs. Roy Meyer, Mrs. Walter Hofmeister and Mrs. Curtis Vaughan.

Mrs. Talbot made the holy carols which were gifts for all the women. Santa Claus in the person of Mr. Fitch brought presents for everyone.

Christmas in her native Romania at the time she was a bride was interestingly described by Mrs. Sulea. In the singing of carols the choir was accompanied by Miss Anna Cook at the piano and by Mrs. Fitch and Mrs. Fawcett on the flute.

Brownie Troops Feted At Christmas Party

A Christmas party in the K. of C. Hall Wednesday night was given for members of Brownie troops 14 and 21.

Forty youngsters were served refreshments from a table colorfully decorated in the Christmas theme. Ornaments of plastic foam on the tree were made by the Brownies for the occasion.

Mothers on the troop committee served lunch and Rev. Fr. John Cunningham distributed gifts. Mrs. Joseph Ruse and Mrs. John Santini were chairmen of the mothers committee. Leaders are Mrs. George Stankovich, Mrs. Clarence Walker, Mrs. Carl Kolner and Mrs. Frank Ray. The girls meet again Jan. 5.

Homeworth Lions Fete Wives With Program

Atlee Freshley presided as master of ceremonies at the ladies night program Wednesday planned by Homeworth Lions Club members for their wives.

Thirty attended. Jon Humphrey of Homeworth, a music student at Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, sang.

Robert Hahn, president of the club, sang two numbers with Mrs. Robert Scott. Following the program, the Stardusters led by Mrs. Lavern Hahlen furnished music for round and square dancing.

A.C. Bartholomew Co. Has Christmas Party

Horvath's on the Canfield Rd. was the scene of the Christmas party for employees and guests of the A. C. Bartholomew Co. Thursday night.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Moser of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Wooley of Leetonia. Corsages were gifts to the women and boutonnieres were worn by the men.

Games were played and gifts were exchanged. The party was planned by Martha Dunn and Gladys Rowand.

Young Ladies Sodality Christmas Party Held

Sister Mary Carmela and Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney were present at the Christmas party for the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Paul Church Wednesday.

Bobbie Durand presided as plans were made for the group to sell tickets for the showing of the "Magnificent" in the Memorial Building Jan. 9. The party closed with refreshments.

The next meeting was set for Jan. 12.

Elsie Matti Circle Enjoys Yule Party

Twenty members and four visitors were Thursday guests of Mrs. Glendon McKenzie of W. Pershing St. when she was hostess to the Elsie Matti Missionary Circle of the First Friends Church.

The short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lloyd Walker. The program opened with carol singing. Mrs. Clifford Aiken conducted the devotions.

Christmas greetings were read from Elsie Matti, for whom the circle is named, from her mission post in Formosa. The title of Mrs. Harold Tolson's reading was "The Marvels of Christmas."

Appropriate readings by Mrs. Kenneth Shallenberg accompanied the showing of pictures of Bethlehem by Mrs. Harold Winn, wife of the pastor who took them while abroad.

After gifts were exchanged the women were served from a beautifully-decorated buffet table where pine, Christmas balls and candles were combined for a Christmas setting. Favors were little angels.

Presbyterian Class Has Family Party

Santa Claus brought candy and gifts for the children present at the family Christmas party planned for members of the Presbyterian Forum Class Thursday evening in the Fellowship Hall. More than 125 were seated at the tables for the supper which was followed by the program.

Bobby Huber sang a solo, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Frank Huber, and Miss Lois Weirick entertained with piano selections. Colored movies "The Spirit of Christmas" and "The Night Before Christmas" were shown.

During the business session presided over by Milton Steiner, the class voted to contribute $50 to the mothers club, of one of the youth choirs for choir robes, and $25 to church-sponsored missionaries in India.

On the committee for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. William Mosher, Miss Margaret Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Early, Mrs. William Haught and Mrs. Si Porter.

The class teacher, E. S. Vincent, was presented a gift from the members. The next party, Jan. 20, will be conducted by the new officers, Powell Schmauch, John O. Olloman, Mrs. Eva Lipp, and Mrs. Daniel Holloway.

Nazarene Youth Present Yule Program

The Junior Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene presented a Christmas program Wednesday in the church.

The Missionary Tots, children aged three to five years, presented two songs "Away In A Manger" and "Everything's All Right In My Father's House."

Participating in the sing were Lois McLaughlin, Jackie Shoff, Becky Shoff, Janet Wilson, Sherry Munsell, Vickie Bixby, Jimmy Higgins, Maxine Kelly and Kathy Kelly.

The Missionary Helpers group, six to eight years old, presented a scripture reading and sang "Silent Night." The song, "Build On The Rock" was accompanied by a flannelboard illustration by Instructor Mrs. Oscar Clay.

The cast included Wayne McLaughlin, David McLaughlin, Jimmy Miller, Billy Higgins, Sandra Hall, Margie Shoff, Lynn Corelli, Donnie Munsell, and Darlene Kelly. Sandra Hall read a Christmas verse from the scriptures.

The play "Why The Chimes Rang" was presented by the Missionary Workers, composed of children aged nine to 12.

Mrs. Lyman Miller was reader and Carol Anderson played the organ.

Characters in the playlet consisted of Teddy Thorne, Dale Wilson, Horby Stanyard, Clyde Shoff, Sandra Hanna, Karen Clay, Darlene Double, Karen Double and Colin Kelly. Sandy Boyles played the piano.

Supervisor of junior work is Mrs. Miller who has announced that $242 was netted for missions by the juniors.

Instructor of the Missionary Tots is Mrs. Russell Double, and Missionary Workers instructor is Mrs. Byron Munsell.

Mrs. Colla Forney of Los Angeles, Calif., is visiting through the holidays with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bradley of Woodland Ave.

Professional Women Observe Yuletide

Seated at two long tables, beautifully decorated for the season, members of the Salem Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed their Christmas dinner party Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Norman Kelly on E. State St.

The membership chairman, Miss Martha Park, headed the committee in charge. Two guests, Mrs. Fred Umbach and Mrs. Vincent Horning, and a new member, Mrs. Robert Entrikin, were welcomed by the group.

Prizes in the games went to Miss Betty Ward, Mrs. Clara Bishop, Mrs. Umbach and Mrs. Horning. Gifts were exchanged and a cash member brought a gift for a woman at the home for the Aged.

Mrs. Emma Bonfert, chairman of the international relations committee, will present the program at the dinner meeting Jan. 3 in the Ruth Smucker House.

Youth Group To Carol

The Guilford Youth Association will go caroling in the community Thursday, Dec. 23, and wind up the evening at the home of Vic Mattevi for refreshments.

Plans for the event were made at a recent meeting when a benefit was scheduled. A dance was planned for Jan. 28 in Guilford Grange Hall.

Husbands Are Feted By Home Makers Club

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker, west of New Garden, was the scene of a Christmas party when members of the Columbiana County Home Makers Club entertained their husbands Wednesday night.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oral Hoopes, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Baker and their children, Christine and Roy. Forty were in the group.

The covered-dish-turkey dinner was served in the recreation room, where the long table was decorated with Christmas appointments, pine boughs, cones and candles. The mantel over the burning fire held an arrangement of pine and blue lights.

When gifts were exchanged, the group gathered around the tree in the sun parlor. Mrs. Lillian Lewton, former president, gave gifts of thanks to several of her aids. Conversation and carol singing were then enjoyed.

Mrs. Nova Andre and Mrs. Leroy Baker assisted the hostess in arranging the party.

4-H Club News

Willowettes 4-H Club held a Christmas party Monday, Dec. 13, at the home of Ruth Sanor. Presents were exchanged and refreshments were served by Mrs. Sanor. The advisor, Mrs. Ruth Oesch, gave each of the girls a pair of crocheted potholders.

Hearing Begun On Plane Crash

26 Die As Italian
Craft Falls Near U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Salvage crews planned today to raise the wreckage of an Italian airliner that crashed into Jamaica Bay at the end of a Rome-New York flight Saturday.

Twenty-six persons died. Six others survived.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, which has been checking the crash near Idlewild Airport, scheduled closed preliminary hearings today.

Wreckage of the four-engine DC6B airliner was located yesterday by Navy divers, who reported it appeared to be in three main pieces.

They said the fuselage, in which 17 bodies are believed trapped, seemed to be intact but had flipped over, with its nose pointing out into the bay.

Bodies of nine crash victims already have been recovered. The last, found yesterday, was that of 12-year-old Rosalia d'Ugo, daughter of Mrs. Natali d'Ugo, Chicago.

One of the crash survivors said Rosalia had managed to get clear of the wrecked plane and he had seen her struggling in the water.

"I swam over to her," said Frank Messina, Mount Vernon, N.Y., "and put her on two seats which had fallen out of the plane and were drifting nearby."

Messina said he went to get better floats and when he came back Rosalia was gone. "The seats were still there. She wasn't," he said.

Rosalia was going to Chicago with two other passengers from her hometown of Altaville, Sicily.

Messina, 43, was reported in poor condition at St. Joseph's Hospital Far Rockaway, Queens.

The six survivors were in the rear of the plane and got out or were thrown clear when the tail cracked off. Two young students returning from Italy were uninjured and able to go home. The others were taken to hospitals.

Investigators said the plane apparently struck the end of a 2,000-foot pier with its tail as it approached the airport through rain and mist. Officials said the pilot, Capt. Guglielmo Algarotti, 52, who had missed three earlier radar-guided approaches to the field, was warned he was coming in too low.

A veteran transatlantic flier, he was among the victims.

In Rome, the Italian government named a commission of its own to investigate the crash and Italian Defense Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani termed the crash "a grave blow" to Italian civil aviation.

Bank Sponsors Movie For Salem Children

All Salem district children are invited to a free movie matinee at the State Theater Wednesday afternoon where they will be the guests of the First National Bank at a holiday entertainment.

The movie will be the technical film, "The Courage of Lassie."

Two showings will be held, the first at 1:30 p.m. for children 10 years and under. The second showing at 3:30 is intended for children over 10. This is done being done to avoid over-crowding at each matinee.

OKAY NEW CONTRACT

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the CIO -United Auto Workers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract covering some 16,000 workers at Columbus' North American Aviation, Inc., plant. The new pact includes a 2½ cent hourly wage boost which, added to a 3-cent cost-of-living allowance, gives North American workers wages ranging from $1.54 to $2.53 hourly.

Next Life!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In some parts of the world millions of people believe that after death they return to earth in the form of an animal.

This idea has always fascinated me, particularly if one had a choice in the kind of animal he'd be in a future life.

Over the years I have given it a great deal of thought, usually on Mondays. Rainy Mondays are best, I find, for problems of this kind.

"If you had to be an animal, what animal would you prefer to be?"

It is a question that always will stir lagging conversation at a tired cocktail party, and arouses a suspicion in me that most people present secretly have a deep-seated desire to be something besides a human being—if only so they can avoid going to more cocktail parties.

The martini devotees all say they either want to be (a) a shaggy dog, or (b) a talking horse. These seem to be the only kinds of animals they know anything about. Mention the possibility of becoming a talking rhinoceros and they clam up and walk away from you. You're out of their groove.

Most ladies coyly demur at giving their real views. They say, "Oh, a beautiful tiger," or "oh, a lovely spotted leopard." But when pressed to the point of honesty, they generally admit they'd really like to be a genteel thoroughbred cat in a fine old well-kept home free of mice and run by people who didn't want any kittens.

Why become a cat? "It's very simple," one lady said grimly. "The average woman has to struggle half her life to get a fur coat. It would be pleasant to be born with one on—and one that wouldn't go out of style."

coat. You rarely get to wear it long yourself.

Some men at cocktail parties say the only animal they would consider being is a lion. But a surprising number of fat fellows express an urge to be an elephant. I pondered this for a long time before coming up with what I feel is the right answer: They merely have become fond of munching peanuts on the cocktail circuit, and don't want to lose the habit.

It took me years of mulling to make a decision in my own case. A roaring lion? No. Roaring of any kind frightens me, and I can't see myself doing it for my own pleasure. I hate raw meat, too. And can you imagine a bold lion, after dragging home the bacon, meekly asking his lioness, "Please, if you don't know how to cook pork, can't you at least hold a match under it for a while?"

Being a mongrel dog, loved by a lonely child, does appeal to me. But it would be just my luck to come back as a trick-performing poodle, living in a penthouse on Park avenue and walked every day at the end of a leash held by some dippy blonde. No, thank you. One life on a leash in a doghouse off Park avenue is enough for me, fun though it's been. I want a change.

A milk cow is a wonderfully useful creature, a strolling factory in a leather cover. Switching from cigar-chomping to cud-chewing wouldn't be too much of a change, but there are other requirements—and well, to tell you the full truth, I was born ticklish. Yep, even on the soles of my feet.

Right now I'm in the mood to become a wild horse, galloping free on the open range, trailed by a herd of admiring fillies, and feeling the fresh breeze tossing my mane. Oh, that wind in my long proud mane.

Don't expect me to tell you why I made this choice. When you are middle-aged, growing bald, and

HOT BATH AFTER SPENDING NIGHT IN TOOL CHEST.—John Madison, 11, comforts shivering John Lasfex, six, soaking in a bath tub after two were released from a large tool chest where they were trapped for 26 hours, most of it in sub-freezing weather at Cambridge, Mass. The boys were trapped in the large wooden box when the lid fell after they entered, and became secured on a metal loop. Cries for help throughout the night went unheard. The boys finally were released after two other youngsters heard thumps coming from the chest.

feel your arches falling, then you'll remember and understand.

What kind of an animal would you choose to be in a future existence? Make up your own mind. Don't ask your wife, or you might get the reply I did:

"Never mind the next life. What kind of animal do you think you've been acting like up till now?" Kindness draws a curtain.

Ellsworth

Thursday evening the Ellsworth P.T.O. had its annual Christmas program in the school gymnasium with all the children in school participating.

The program consisted of Christmas carols by each grade. There were solos by Patty Crum and Diana Mandak, and a trumpet duet

by Carol Krichbaum and George Weamer.

Refreshments were served. The eighth grade of Ellsworth Township school sponsored square dance in the school recently.

On Wednesday the first meeting of a new Explorer Scout Stew in Ellsworth was held in the home of the adult advisor, Mr. Robert En-trikin.

Harold Duryee, from the Mahoning Valley Boy Scout Council was present and also, Muriel Hively, scoutmaster from Troop 32 in Ellsworth.

The "Explorer Scouts" elected to office in the crew are, Jimmy assistant crew leader, Lee Coburn, assistant crew leader, Allen McVern, treasurer, and Ray Coburn secretary.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Georgi Malenkov, a prominent Soviet statesman and champion of coexistence, recently conversed with Britain's Lord Coleraine. Before they got into this still unreported talk, Comrade Malenkov had made several concessions to Western civilization. He had abandoned his Russian - type blouse for a routine business suit, well tailored. And he had personally opened the door for his visitor instead of sitting Stalin-like behind a big desk at the other end of the long Kremlin office.

Victor Riesel

In the course of the talk, the rather sage Lord Coleraine, who had been a U.S. newspaperman for two years, asked Malenkov why, if he of coexistence, Moscow didn't dismantle the Cominform. Malenkov's feelings seemed hurt. The Cominform, the Russian replied, was merely an "information bureau" dispensing material on Communism to those who want it, just as we dispense information on capitalism. That's all the Cominform did, said the number one comrade.

THE GENTLE PEER from Britain was in no position to push the subject. But I am.

I've just come cross-country and I've the impression that the Cominform is also decidedly interested in accumulating special types of information. The Cominform seems to have a penchant for having its followers in certain areas where vital information can be gathered—on such bagatelles as atomic pumps, atomic motors, sky platforms, rockets to the moon and Mars, etc., etc.

In Los Angeles last week, the CIO's Jim Carey reported that the pro-Soviet United Electrical Workers Union has bargaining rights in 17 plants and shops in California alone. And that "at least five of these plants have — currently or quite recently — worked on government contracts. These are the General Electric plants in Ontario and San Francisco, Westinghouse plants in Sunnyvale and Emeryville, and General Cable Corp. in Emeryville."

Carey also stated that the UE

holds bargaining rights in a number of other California plants that doubtless would receive defense contracts in any emergency.

The UE has concentrated a substantial number of its pro-Communist staff members in California, Carey said.

THIS IS A serious matter. Here is how this union is characterized in an old report made by a special subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor:

"The hold of the Communists on America's electrical industry is the hold of Soviet Russia. It is communism in action — now. It is not an historical danger; it is a present danger."

"The Communist party has gained a strong foothold in one of the nation's most strategic industries, the electrical industry. It dominates . . . the United Electrical Workers. It (the Communist party) has seized control of its (UE's) national office, the executive board, the paid staff, the union newspapers and a number of its district councils and locals, the committee said."

The areas in which this union and others in its Red blood fraternity operate cells are too numerous to mention. However, it can safely be reported that this pro-Soviet union, and the Communist party itself, have cells in such plants as the Ingersoll-Rand installation which has made pumps and compressors for the atomic bomb arsenal at Oak Ridge and in several key General Electric plants, which are the very core of atomic and electronic weapons of the future.

THERE ARE ALSO Communist cells, I am told, in Bethlehem Steel Corp. areas where the party knows that this big steel firm is studying such items as package reactor plants for small land-based electric power stations or for distilling plants to provide fresh water in remote regions.

The presence of some of these cells is no secret — and has been no secret — to security officers everywhere who try to head off the Communist operatives. But when a firm tries to fire a Commie, there are a thousand complications. When a firm fires a Commie who refuses to talk — by taking the Fifth Amendment — on the witness stand of a federal hearing, the firm finds itself tied up in litigation. At the moment, we find that the notorious UE, which I've described above, has been able to bring the General Electric Corp. into court in an effort to prevent GE from firing a score of those who took the Fifth.

Since we have been unable to solve this problem for so many years, Malenkov can really prove there is no Cominform by simply pulling out his boys himself. What do you say, Comrade Coexistence?

Deerfield

Members of the Columbiana Business & Professional Women's Club will go to the Anglemeyer Home for Aged Women on 35 N. Main St. Tuesday evening to give a program of Christmas music for residents of the home under the direction of Margaret Barrow.

In addition to group singing, there will be numbers by a vocal quartet which includes Virginia Felger, and Hildred, Eleanor and Rachel Esterly. Sara Groner will give a Christmas story.

Reservations for the dinner at Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church preceding the program at 6:30 at the rest home may be made by calling Columbiana 2155.

DR. WILLIAM JONES, program chairman for the meeting of the Rotary Club this evening, will present Columbiana High School students in a program of Christmas music under the direction of Mrs. Jean Snow, vocal music instructor. Eight students who will give the program are Lloyd Mackall, Jim Chaddock, Sam Walker, Dick Barnes, Dave Wolfgang, Bob Arbuckle, Roaslie Warner and Alice Ann Myers.

Rev. Lates Carter of First Presbyterian Church of Salem will be the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club this evening.

THE COLUMBIANA GARDEN Club held its Christmas luncheon at Parkview House in Canfield last Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Allan White and Mrs. William Stamets in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. William Knotts, president, conducted a short business meeting after lunch for the installation of officers by Mrs. Willard Helric and Mrs. William Arn.

New officers are: Mrs. R. G. Oakes, president; Mrs. White, vice president; Mrs. William Stamets, recording secretary; Mrs. Irvin Brittain, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alfred Barrow, treasurer.

Programs for next year were distributed by Mrs. White, program chairman. Covers, painted by Mrs. Knotts, bore the Columbine, club flower.

MRS. LEE BOOKWALTER, the luncheon program chairman, presented Mrs. Evan Roller who gave an interesting and informing discussion on flower arrangements for use in the home at Christmas.

The game between Columbiana Clippers and Fairfield Comets will be played in Columbiana gym at 7 p.m. Tuesday. The game was originally scheduled for Fairfield School.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Clipper Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, are to take a coverdish to the meeting Tuesday evening when a dollar gift exchange will follow the business meeting.

The trustees of Firestone American Legion Post will give further consideration to repair of the assembly room at their meeting tonight.

THE SALE OF CHRISTMAS seal totals for Columbiana village and Fairfield Township amounted to nearly $2,000 toward the $2,575 quota.

Members of Firestone American Legion Post Auxiliary may arrange transportation to Salem for a meeting of the Columbiana County Council tomorrow evening with Mrs. J. C. Horton or Mrs. Ross Sheets.

Captain Goes Down
With His Ship

TOBERMORY, Scotland (AP)—Ivan Dahn a 57-year-old Swedish ship captain, went down with his damaged freighter yesterday after his crew of 20 took to lifeboats. The crewmen all survived without injuries.

The ship, the 1,337-ton Hispania, was en route from Liverpool to Sweden with a cargo of steel when it hit a reef half a mile off Scotland's west coast during a storm. When the freighter was backed off the reef, it took a 25-degree list to port.

The crew abandoned ship in two lifeboats. They circled the ship pleading for the captain to join them, but he stuck to the bridge.

"The skipper could have come off with us, but perhaps he thought he had more time," said First Officer Walter Eimerson. "A bulkhead must have broken, and the ship went down like stone."

Mt. Nebo Grangers
Enjoy Dance, Games

Square dances, polkas and ring games were enjoyed at Mt. Nebo Grange Fun Night, Wednesday in the grange hall.

Caller for square dancing was Jackie Birk and a local orchestra composed of Raymond Morrow, Bill Heddleson, Glen McAfee and Joe Tinsie.

Four vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Tinsie.

Refreshments were served to the 40 members, and a Christmas party and program is announced for Wednesday at 8 in the hall.

New Waterford

The Junior Class of the New Waterford School will sponsor a "Snow Ball" Christmas dance on Wednesday evening, Dec. 22 at the high school auditorium. Music will be furnished by Ted Kuhn's orchestra and dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30. The public is invited.

The Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Donald Rupert on Thursday evening with Mrs. Stanley Young and Mrs. Eugene Eshe assisting. Mrs. I. P. Lewis had the devotionals.

Mrs. George Ramsey, Mrs. Walter Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Ralph Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Robert Nash and Mrs. William Baughman completed the cast of a play entitled "How Christmas is Commercialized."

F.H.C. Class members of the Methodist Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Homer Felger on Wednesday evening. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Clara Bradfield, Mrs. P. M. Hawkins and Mrs. E. R. Bretz.

Mrs. Lydia Sloan and daughter, Mrs. Pauline Bowles, are patients at Mercy Hospital in Canton where they were taken last Wednesday following an auto accident. Mrs. Sloan received head concussion and a broken hip while Mrs. Bowles suffered a broken pelvic bone and shoulder injuries.

Mrs. Albert Schmidt is recovering from recent surgery and was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dale Wolfgang.

Sammie Maple is spending the winter in Tulsa, Okla., at the home of his sister, Mrs. Phyllis McQuiston.

New Waterford School will close on Wednesday for the Christmas vacation and will resume classes on Tuesday, Jan. 4.

Pope Pius XII
To Broadcast
Yule Message

VATICAN City (AP)—Ailing Pope Pius XII is working on a brief Christmas message he will broadcast to the world over the Vatican radio at noon Friday.

On Christmas Day he plans to appear in the window of his study and bless a throng gathered below in St. Peter's Square.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano announced the arrangements today.

Despite the planned brevity of his Christmas message, Vatican observers took the announcement as a new evidence of the Pope's gradual improvement from the illness that threatened his life 18 days ago. It will be the pontiff's third radio message since his collapse Dec. 2.

The Vatican Press Office said the Pope passed "a fairly tranquil night."

"This morning he received in ordinary audience Msgr. Domenico Tardini, Vatican prosecretary of state," a bulletin said. "Msgr. Tardini found the pontiff somewhat better."

year going into the home repair and remodeling market.

People looking for homes to buy are becoming increasingly aware of the opportunities in the older-home field. This is especially true for young budget-conscious couples looking for their first home to buy.

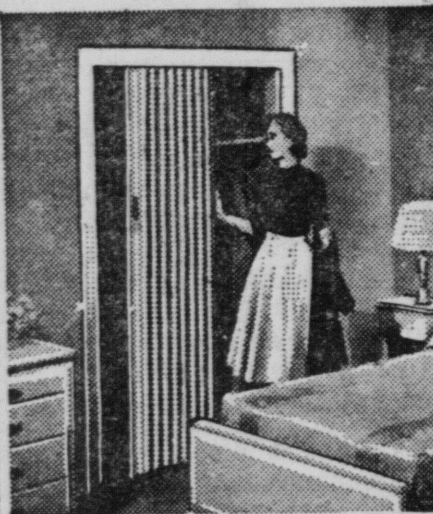

The variety of older, well-kept homes is tremendous. They come in all sizes and architectural styles and are to be found readily in all parts of the country. Happily, most of them are priced well within reach of today's wage-earner.

The alert home-hunter will find that he can buy such a home, equipped with modern conveniences, for a price often well under that of a new house of similar size.

Fall is a good time for remodeling jobs around the house. And remember that regular repairing is necessary to keep your home's resale value high.

Building Boom To Continue

Firm Sees New High In Construction In '55

NEW YORK — Next year's level of construction activity will set another new all-time high record in dollar volume, in the opinion of Thomas S. Holden, vice chairman of F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing specialists, writing in Architectural Record Magazine.

After Holden wrote his outlook statement, F. W. Dodge Corp. announced such a high total for October, in contract awards for future construction in the 37 eastern states that a corporation official said that it is now almost impossible that the 1954 total will not set a new high record.

Holden thinks the 1955 Dodge dollar total will surpass this year by 5 per cent, with strength in all Dodge categories.

Staff Members Aid

Holden's statement, an annual event in the construction industry, was prepared in collaboration with two of his staff, Clyde Shute, statistical specialist, and Dr. George Cline Smith, economist.

In formulating the estimates they were aided by a poll they made of the opinions among 186 leading economists in industry, finance, and the universities.

Holden's opinion that the Dodge figure will set a new high record implies that the government figure will move accordingly although later, and also set a new high.

The two sets of figures differ in the respect that the Dodge figures are known facts telling what will occur for weeks and months ahead in the 37 eastern states, while the government figures are broader and cover the 48 states on the basis of estimates of construction that has already been put in place.

Future Activity Estimated
They are estimates of past activity, not future activity. The government in developing its estimates uses Dodge contract awards for many types of construction.

Holden estimates that both the Dodge and Bureau of Labor Statistics totals of new dwelling unit starts in 1955 will run four per cent ahead of 1954; and that the bureau's total will be 1,250,000.

He thinks that physical volume of building in terms of square feet in the Dodge figures, will go ahead 5 per cent as compared with 6 per cent for all construction on a dollar basis.

Comparisons in terms of square footage have the advantage of being a more stable yardstick than the variable dollar.

Non-Residential To Increase
"The estimate tables show the following indications for non-residential building classifications; a sizeable increase in educational buildings; moderate increases in commercial buildings, hospitals and institutions, public buildings, religious buildings, and social and recreational projects.

Miscellaneous nonresidential building (which includes among other things, railway, bus and air terminals) is estimated at the same figure as that of the year 1954.

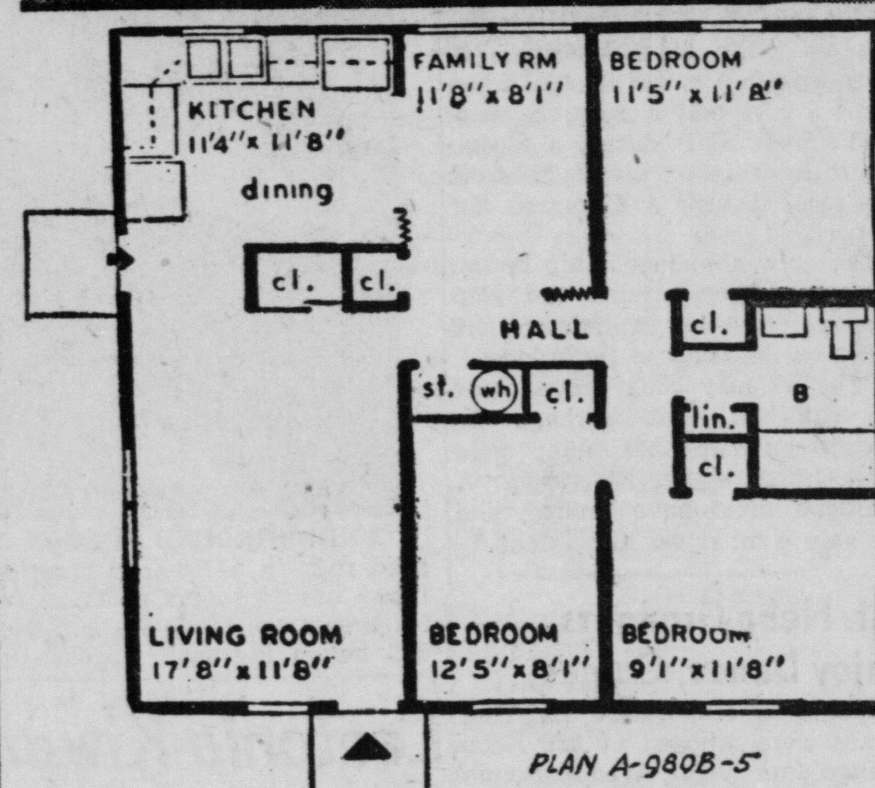

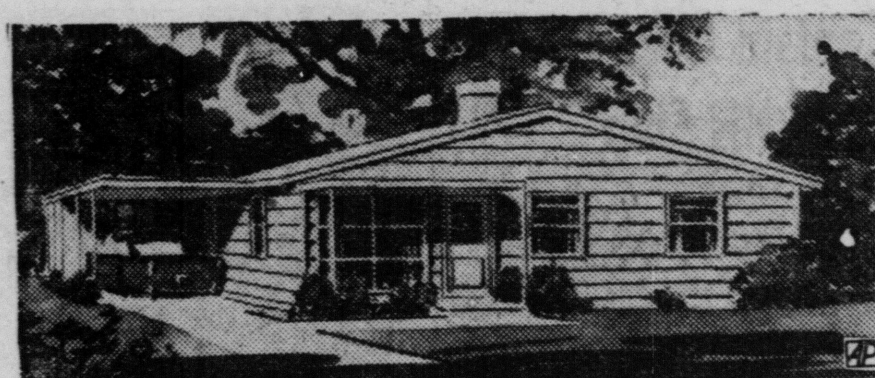

For manufacturing buildings there is estimated a further moderate floor space decline (this estimate being based principally on the apparent lack of any evidence as to when the confidently expected upturn may come about).

"For residential building, there is estimated an approximate four per cent increase in new non-farm dwelling units, a 5 per cent increase in nonresidential floor space to be contracted for in the 37 eastern states, and a 6 per cent increase in 37-states dollar volume."

55 Slowdown Possible
Nearly all of such increase as will take place will be single-family houses. It seems possible that the indicated rate of increase may be exceeded in the first half of 1955 and that in such case there might be a moderate slowdown later in the year.

"Dollar volume of public works and utilities contracts is slated for an 11 per cent increase over 1954. Such an expanded total figure would be heavily weighted with highway projects, for which an enlarged program is already in the making, even in advance of the expected survey of the President's Committee.

"Recently published estimates

PREFABRICATED houses, shipped in parts and fitted together on the site, are becoming increasingly popular. This potential four-bedroom house, with a family room that is convertible into a fourth bedroom, is a new model of the American Houses, Inc., 165 West 46th St., New York 36, N. Y. Covering 980 square feet, it is design A-980B-5.

have indicated that alterations, repairs and modernization of existing structures throughout the country may have amounted to as much as a billion dollars a month in 1954. There is every reason to expect as large an actual volume in 1955 as there has been during the current year.

"The conservative estimates made for new construction likely to be undertaken in 1955, if approximately realized, would represent only a small fraction of the nation's potential long-range construction market. They presuppose a continuation of some rather important general business adjustments which were in progress but not completed in 1954."

Bath Remodeling Makes For Greater Efficiency.

Remodeling gives you a wonderful opportunity to increase the efficiency of your bathroom. If you live in an older home and suffer from a bathroom shortage, plan your modernization so that your bathroom will be able to handle peak demands.

For example, installation of twin countertop lavatories will help alleviate waiting in line during the morning and night rush hours. And, if your bathroom is larger than average, you could add needed fixtures and "compartmentize" it by installing walls or partitions between them.

Compartmentizing would permit several family members to use the facilities at the same time with ample privacy for each.

Old Home Offers Buyer Plenty Of Solid Comfort

Want a "new" home? One in a good neighborhood, constructed of quality materials, offering comfort and charm? Well then, buy an old home.

Actually, many homebuyers are finding terrific bargains in the older home market. Such homes are selling at prices lower than any time since the war. They've been remodeled for sales attraction, increasing their convenience without losing their charm.

In these homes it's the kitchens and bathrooms that usually need the most updating.

The home of Mrs. Russell Reichcnbach was beautifully decorated in keeping with the holiday season when members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department met Thursday evening for a Christmas party and gift exchange.

Prizes in contests were won by Louise Galbreath and Dorothy Reichenbach. Games were enjoyed. The membership drive ended with Evelyn Boiegrain and her team the winners.

The Thursday, Jan. 20 meeting will be a dinner at a place to be announced later.

WOOD PRESERVATIVE

Pressure treatment of wood performs a triple service. It increases life of the wood three or more times, it makes sapwood longer lived than the most durable heartwood and it permits use for construction of naturally non-durable woods.

1954 Bank Holdups In Ohio More Than Double 1951-53

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bank holdups this year in Ohio have more than doubled the number of similar robberies in the state for the three-year period of 1951-53.

And not since the peak year of 1932, when 554 bank robberies were committed in the United States, have banking institutions faced such a serious threat.

Those figures, and the conclusion, were arrived at from spokesmen representing local, state and federal law enforcement agencies.

Federal officials say the first six months of 1954 showed 271 bank robberies in the nation.

In Ohio, state highway patrol records show at least 18 bank robberies this year. Patrol files show nine still unsolved. There were only five unsolved cases for the 1951-53 period.

The list does not include robberies of building and loan associations. In Cincinnati, for example, more than half a dozen building and loan businesses have been hit by robbers this year, with losses estimated between $500 and $2,000 in each case. Many other Ohio cities had similar robberies.

Figures released by federal authorities indicate an upward trend in bank robberies over the past four years. In 1951, there were 103 such holdups. In 1952 there were 128, another 215 were committed in 1953 and 271 more through June of this year.

It is a difficult problem in Ohio to get exact figures on the number of bank holdups as there is no central reporting agency that can, at any moment, give a complete breakdown. The state highway patrol keeps records of those cases in which patrolmen help investigate. The Federal Bureau of Investigation keeps records of holdups involving offenses at banks having some federal connection.

Eventually, the FBI compiles reports from various local law enforcement agencies and comes up with complete figures. But this report generally will not be completed until some months after the end of each year.

Despite the recent wave of robberies, officials do not believe there were any organized bank robbery gangs operating in this country similar to those of the early 1930s.

In about 70 per cent of the robberies in 1953, only one man was involved in the case, they said. The present trend indicates they are being committed by two, three or four men, in most instances. Local and state officials say three major causes may be responsible for the increase of bank robberies:

1. Relaxing of bank employees in view of their federal insurance coverage and instructions they have received not to interfere.

2. Efforts have been made to make the customer quite comfortable while doing business in the bank, possibly causing some laxity.

3. The physical security of banks has not kept pace with the times. In an effort to tighten regulations, T. E. Donovan, of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, has issued instructions to league members throughout the state on "what to remember in case of a robbery."

Local police forces and the FBI are constantly on the alert for robbers.

While the highway patrol offers assistance it is not responsible for carrying out an extensive investigation, said Capt. Floyd C. Moon. "Our chief function is getting descriptive information from bank employees immediately after the robbery for road block purposes," he said.

The biggest bank robbery in the state this year came on Sept. 23, when two men held up the Farmers and Citizens Bank in Montgomery County and fled with $80,118. They are still at large.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

"If there is any person in the town who feels emotion caused by this man's death, show that person to me, Spirit, I beseech you!" cried Scrooge. Whereupon the Spirit of Christmas Yet to Come showed Scrooge the dead man's debtors, who were happy indeed.

HEART OF JULIET JONES

By STAN DRAKE

MRS. MAYBANK, JUST WHAT DOES LEO DO IN THE THEATRICAL BUSINESS?

MY LEO? OH, JULIE, HE'S JUST ABOUT THE MOST TALENTED BOY YOU EVER MET! PLAYS ANY INSTRUMENT YOU CAN NAME, BUT HIS REAL FORTÉ IS WRITING WORDS AND MUSIC.

LEO SAYS THE TROUBLE WITH THE THEATER IS THAT THEY'RE ABOUT FIFTY YEARS BEHIND HIM! BUT HE SAYS THEY'RE CATCHING UP FAST! AND WHEN THEY DO—WATCH OUT, BROADWAY, HE SAYS!

NICE TONE. HOW MUCH?

IT'S A REAL STEAL AT $745. WHAT'D YOU SAY YOUR NAME WAS?

BLONDE

By CHICK YOUNG

I'M TRYING TO FIGURE OUT A BUDGET FOR MY EXPENSES

LET'S SEE—MAYBE I CAN HELP

THIS IS WHAT IT COSTS ME FOR RENT, TAXES, FOOD, FUEL, AND HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES

H-M-M

BUT THIS LEAVES YOU NOTHING FOR LIVING

WHO'S LIVING?

DICK TRACY

By CHESTER GOULD

THE OPERATION FOR CONCENTRAL CATARACT WAS NOT TOO DIFFICULT—HER EYESIGHT SHOULD BE PERFECT.

WHAT A WONDERFUL CHRISTMAS GIFT!

RAINBOW SAYS THE FIRST THING SHE WANTS TO DO IS SEE SPARKLE PLINY AND LITTLE WING.

WE WENT THROUGH SO MUCH TOGETHER—THEY'RE SUCH SWEET LITTLE GIRLS. I WONDER IF THEY'LL KNOW ME.

MEANWHILE

IT'S ME, YEAH—IT'S ABOUT CORNY—LOOK—GET A WRIT ON THAT BABE, OR IF SHE'S BOOKED, GO HER BOND—PRONTO!

CAPTAIN EASY

By LESLIE TURNER

BY DISPOSING OF THE INFANTS QUICKLY, WE RUN LESS CHANCE OF GETTING CAUGHT! OF HAVING 'EM GET SICK ON OUR HANDS!

BUT YOU'RE GETTING TOO BOLD, PHIL! ONE SLIP-UP, AND WE'RE BOTH SUNK! THERE ARE LAWS WITH TEETH IN THEM ABOUT SELLING HUMAN LIFE!

WANDA, WE'RE NOT SELLING 'EM! WE'RE ONLY ASKING PROSPECTIVE PARENTS TO PAY—AH, CERTAIN EXPENSES!

$2,500 EXPENSES?

LOOK, WANDA, IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE RISK, YOU CAN GET OUT!

REALLY? AND DROP A HINT TO THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND THE MEDICAL SOCIETY THAT YOU'RE KICKED OUT OF MEDICAL SCHOOL?

TERRY & PIRATES

By GEORGE WUNDER

AH, ROGUE RILL, DUTY IS INDEED A STERN TASK—MASTER! HERE YOU ARE, HEADED FOR A MANLESS EVENING—AFTER SENDING A STERLING SPECIMEN LIKE T. LEE ON THE TRAIL OF SPRUCE WINTER, THE BELLE OF THE CRACKER BARREL SET!

RIGHT NOW, HE'S PROBABLY GAZING, ENTHRALLED INTO HER LIMPID GREYS, WHILE SHE TELLS HIM WHAT INSTRUCTIONS THE BIG BAD REDSKY HAD FOR HER FAMILY REUNION.

WHILE IN SPRUCE'S HOTEL ROOM...

I HATE YOU! I HATE YOU!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

By EDGAR MARTIN

BUT, OLD CHAP—

BAH! I TELL YOU—

OH, COME, SEBASTIAN. DON'T SPOIL THE FUN!

HUMILIATING!

NOW TO LOCATE PUG!

EVEN IF THE REAL PRINCE SHOULD BE OFFENDED BY MY COSTUME, HE WOULDN'T DARE BE A POOR SPORT ABOUT IT!

PRINCE WILLIAM?

SWEETIE PIE

By J. R. WILLIAMS

"I brought my list in writing this time! Last year you got my order all fouled up!"

THE GUY WHO GAVE ME THIS SAID IT WAS IN MORTUARY OVER 20 YEARS!

IT LOOKS IT, MOOSE! AND DIG THOSE ANCIENT ENGRAVINGS!

WE'LL HAVE TO BRING IT UP TO DATE!

YEAH, OTHERWISE THE KITTENS WILL THINK YOU'RE RUNNING A CUBE EXPRESS!

NOW IT STARTS TO MAKE SENSE!

KEEP COOL, FOOL! HEY, HOO, THERE, FROZEN DOLL!

COMMON EVERYDAY YOOT TALK, CHUM! THE LANGUAGE SPOKEN BY PRESENT DAY PEASANTS!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By MERRILL BLOSSER

REMEMBER THE PLACE, MR. MOLTY?

OF COURSE, INSPECTOR! THOUGH I HAVEN'T BEEN HERE SINCE—

I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT, FLINT.

THE INSPECTOR'S SQUAD HAS DETERMINED THAT SOME-BODY WITH ACCESS TO THIS OFFICE FIRED A SHOT AT SNELL FROM BEHIND THIS SCREEN!

ABSURD! REEFLE WAS STANDING RIGHT THERE AND—

I DON'T RECALL THAT INFORMATION APPEARING IN THE NEWSPAPERS!

deliberating his fate. They went to dinner last night shortly after 6 o'clock, and were excused from the usual night session.

Each time, Sheppard hopefully searches the faces of the seven men and five women for some sign.

There is little to read. Most of them appear to be avoiding his eyes. Occasionally, one of them shoots a quick glance at him.

When he came into the courtroom last night, Sheppard, as usual, first greeted his two brothers, Stephen and Richard. He made a peculiar little grimace as his eyes met theirs.

It was the same anxious expression that airmen exchange when they are sweating out a dangerous mission.

The jurors' faces have settled into a wooden blank when they come into court.

"I've never seen a jury like this one," a court officer said. "Usually, some hint slips out, maybe just a remark, or some little thing that tells you how it's going."

"But not these people. Once outside that jury room, they talk about everything in the world except this case. You can't even tell whether anybody is mad at anybody else, which is always a sign."

p.m., walked in, got the boots and left without turning on the light.

He said State Highway Patrolman M. R. Darrah and two truck drivers were waiting in his office when he arrived. They had received a key from Patrolman William Ritchie who was on desk duty in the police office.

Marks on the door to the cabinet indicated someone had used a screwdriver or similar instrument to force up the door, enabling it to be pulled open.

Identical marks were found on the edge of the inner compartment and a broken hinge to the dial safe door was found on the floor. A check of the building and the outside area failed to produce the safe door.

Between 8:30 to 11:30 last night four patrolmen and Desk Sergeant Henry DeRienzo were on duty, although a shift change occurred during that period so that all the personnel were not on duty at the same time.

Besides DeRienzo, Patrolmen James Irey, Norman Flick, Gilbert Bartha and Ritchie were on patrol during that period.

Mayor Cranmer said today that he usually did not keep such a large amount of money in his office. He said November had been a busy month in his court and that the resultant book work in connection with the funds received had been a factor in keeping the money on hand so it could be checked off before a bank deposit was made.

Cranmer said he had planned to finish the paper work today and deposit the money in the bank, preparatory to making his report to Council at its regular meeting tomorrow night.

Means of entry into the building itself has not been ascertained, Chief Earley said. Earley said the S. Broadway St. door was locked. Excluding windows, entry could have been gained through the E. Pershing St. door, through the fire department doors or through the police garage doors at the rear of the building.

Ironically, an order from the mayor himself could have been a favorable factor for the thieves. Early in his administration the mayor ordered the police to patrol the streets continuously and not to loiter in the building.

Calling hours will be at the Vodrey home Tuesday afternoon and evening.

In the third American generation of his family, Mr. Vodrey was born at East Liverpool March 2, 1873, the son of Col. William H. and Elizabeth Jackman Vodrey, the grandson of Jabez and Sarah Nixon of Vodrey.

His grandparents came from Staffordshire, England, in 1827. In 1828, Jabez Vodrey established at Pittsburgh the first pottery west of the Alleghenies. He later built and operated a pottery at Louisville, Ky. Selling it, he went to Troy, Ind. to operate a pottery for an old friend, James Clews, whom he had known in Staffordshire. In 1847, Jabez Vodrey, James Blakely and William Woodward established one of the early potteries at East Liverpool and this, known as the Vodrey Pottery, continued in operation until the late 1920s.

Three sons of Jabez and Sarah Nixon Vodrey, James, John and William H. were the second American generation. William H. served with distinction as colonel in the 143rd Ohio Volunteer Infantry during the Civil War. John was killed while serving with Gen. Sherman in his march to the sea. The father, Jabez, in failing health, was unable to withstand the shock of this news and died within a few weeks at the age of 63.

Mr. Vodrey's mother was the daughter of John Jackman, elder of the Fredericktown Christian Church. Mr. Jackman was one of the founders of the Disciples of Christ in the East Liverpool vicinity.

Graduating from East Liverpool High School in 1889, Mr. Vodrey became a student at Bethany College in 1890, graduating in 1894 with an A.B. degree. He graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1896 with an LL.B. degree. In 1897, he also received a degree from Cincinnati Law School, where he concentrated on the study of corporation practice.

In recent years, he has been a trustee of Bethany College and was by that institution given an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Opened Law Office In 1897

He was admitted to the bar in 1897 and opened a law office at East Liverpool. At various times his partners were John C. Wallace and Frank Andrews. In recent years, his partners have been his son, William Jr., Raymond S. Buzzard and Donald D. Shay.

Mr. Vodrey and Miss Dorothy Kelly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kelly of East Liverpool, were married in 1901. To them were born the three surviving children.

His affiliations were the various Masonic bodies, the Elks, Moose, Odd Fellows, Knights of St. George and the old Turnverein. Other memberships were Rotary, the East Liverpool Historical Society, Ohio State Archeological and Historical Society, Columbiana County Bar Association, Ohio Bar Association and the American Bar Association. He served as president of the Columbiana County Bar Association in 1931-32. Social memberships included the East Liverpool Country Club, the Brookside Country Club of Canton and the Canton Club.

Business Partner With Brush

Long associated with Louis H. Brush as friend and legal counsel in the conduct of The East Liverpool Review and The Salem News, he joined Mr. Brush and Roy D. Moore in negotiations which led to the purchase of the Marlon Star from President Warren G. Harding in 1923.

Thereafter, the three partners purchased from Charles D. Simeral and associates the Steubenville Herald-Star in 1925 and purchased from George B. Freese the Canton Repository in 1927. In the same year, they organized Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. Mr. Brush became president and later chairman of the board. Mr. Moore became vice president and general manager and later president and publisher. Mr. Vodrey has served the organization continuously as secretary - treasurer and general counsel.

In 1930, the company purchased from Harry E. Taylor the Portsmouth Times and a half interest in the Ironton Tribune. In the same year, the assets, title and circulation lists of the Canton Daily News were purchased from former Gov. James M. Cox, upon that newspaper's suspension from publication. In 1937, the Salisbury (Md.) Times was added to the newspaper group. Radio affiliates acquired by the publishing company are the Ohio Broadcasting Co. (WHBC, Canton) and the Scioto Broadcasting Co. (WPAY, Portsmouth).

In each of the above transactions, Mr. Vodrey exercised skill in the legal and financing arrangements involved in the purchases.

In his latter days it would have been hard to distinguish between the satisfaction Mr. Vodrey found in the practice of law and in publication of newspapers. He was attached to both. Not by training but by intuition, seasoned judgment and comprehension he was a first class newspaperman in the es-ing children. Death claimed Mrs. Vodrey in 1932. Fourteen years later, Dec. 26, 1946, Mr. Vodrey and Mrs. Rebecca Boyle Nettwerk were married here in Salem.

Because of his reluctance to seek the spotlight, Mr. Vodrey literally was drafted into his first public office. Friends prevailed upon him to be a candidate for city solicitor of East Liverpool after he had made a name for himself in 10 years of legal practice. He consented to run but declined to campaign. His friends made his presence on the ticket known and he was elected by a substantial majority, serving in 1908 and 1909. He was re-elected for a second term by an even larger vote serving in 1910 and 1911. He declined to be a candidate for a third term.

Was County Prosecutor

Two years later, friends insisted that he be a candidate for prosecuting attorney of Columbiana County. Twice elected, he served from 1913 through 1916. He was asked to become a candidate for judge of the Common Pleas Court, but having so long interrupted his private practice, he determined to return to it.

Known for many years as Judge Vodrey, he came by this title not through service on the bench but because it seemed exactly to fit as an affectionate tribute to his personal characteristics and judicial bearing.

Frequently called upon and always responsive, Mr. Vodrey's life was one of service and attainment. He coupled his love of the law with a sense of civic responsibility characteristic of his father and of his grandfather. No task was too great or too small to engage his time.

Various he served East Liverpool as chairman of the city park commission, president of the YMCA, secretary - treasurer and trustee of the James G. Woodin Fund, trustee of the East Liverpool War Chest, delegate on several occasions to Republican national conventions, director of the First National Bank, director of the Chamber of Commerce, participant in all the worthy causes of a generation.

Mr. Vodrey's birthplace is the site of the present First Christian Church in East Liverpool, of which he was a life-long member. Because of the proximity of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church to his home on Park Boulevard, Mr. Vodrey worshipped there in recent years and was accorded by the congregation the rare distinction of election to its board of trustees and later to its presidency.

The organizations in his home town that were regularly or occasionally in need of help found themselves able to count on Mr. Vodrey for generous portions of his time, encouragement, moral force and funds. Among his favorites were the YMCA, Boy Scouts and Salvation Army. A list of such organizations would include virtually every activity and every movement qualifying for civic support.

In recognition of these interests, Mr. Vodrey was given the 1949 Distinguished Citizen Award by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of East Liverpool.

His affiliations were the various Masonic bodies, the Elks, Moose, Odd Fellows, Knights of St. George and the old Turnverein. Other memberships were Rotary, the East Liverpool Historical Society, Ohio State Archeological and Historical Society, Columbiana County Bar Association, Ohio Bar Association and the American Bar Association. In his latter days it would have been hard to distinguish between the satisfaction Mr. Vodrey found in the practice of law and in publication of newspapers. He was attached to both. Not by training but by intuition, seasoned judgment and comprehension he was a first class newspaperman in the es-termination of his associates and of all employees, for on many occasions they had opportunity to welcome and profit by his counsel.

Was A Man Of Purpose

Calm and unhurried, Mr. Vodrey had time to handle a prodigious amount of legal work, time to counsel with his partners in the operation of the newspapers, time to study and read, time to enjoy nature by himself or with companions on long walks over his farms and time to listen to the troubles of others and advise them.

Most men so forceful move swiftly, but Mr. Vodrey moved slowly and with purpose. He was a deliberate man, occupying every moment at his disposal. Reasoning, he was a good speaker. Possessor of a sense of humor, he was a raconteur. With intimates, nothing gave him more joy than the recollection of legends and true stories of early life in Columbiana County. He knew and loved the hills and the streams. He knew most of the folklore. He had an inexhaustible fund of interesting anecdotes concerning the pioneers of Eastern Ohio.

He had reverence for the land, the beauties of nature and wildlife which is a part of it. It hurt him to see the careless destruction of nature's handiwork and the loss of old landmarks through neglect. Because he found strength in the soil and happiness in agricultural pursuits, as an avocation, he began in middle life to acquire property in the vicinity of his beloved Fredericktown, scene of boyhood pleasure and replete with historic significance.

He extended his ownership of property in this area suburban to East Liverpool, giving sanctuary to birds and other wildlife, improving the breed of farm stock and developing on the banks of Beaver Creek a spot of great beauty. Here was the site of the girlhood home of Mr. Vodrey's mother, Elizabeth Jackman, and here he developed his scenic Beaverkettle farm. Here, also, Mr. Vodrey found great personal pleasure, visiting the farm day after day, in winter and summer, except when physical restrictions made such visits impossible.

Immediately adjacent to Fredericktown lies his Lost Lock Farm, an historic tract. Mr. Vodrey so named it because upon it were located three locks of the old Sandy "beaver" canal, two visible and one "lost" underground.

In connection with his farming interests, Mr. Vodrey was a member of the American Saddle Horse Breeders Association, the American Association of Importers of Breeders of Belgian Draft Horses, American Guernsey Cattle Club and the Hampshire Swine Record Association.

Annually, in the years before World War II, Mr. Vodrey was host to members of the Columbiana County Bar Association and his farms were the setting for a full day of outing. Traditionally, the lawyers played baseball, those from the "north" against those from the "south," and Mr. Vodrey was customarily the pitcher for the "south." These occasions were reminders of his boyhood days as a school athlete and of his young manhood when he pitched for the old Masonic and Phoenix clubs.

And the lawyers swam at Laurel Point, confluence of the north and west branches of Beaver Creek. They were guests at dinner served by candlelight in nature's dining room, the bed of the old canal and always, Mr. Vodrey and the almanac agreeing, in the light of the full moon.

Traditional, too, was the great bonfire around which the lawyers assembled after their picnic dinner to relax, to sing old-time songs and to bid farewell to their host, associate and friend.
